111 Academic Year

Regulations for NYCU Talk Show Contest

1. Purpose

The purpose of this activity is to motivate students to use English in their everyday lives and to introduce their respective academic subjects understandably. They can communicate and converse freely in English with others in a humorous way, as well as convey ideas to audiences from various backgrounds. It is expected that students could enhance their interdisciplinary along with intercultural communication skills, develop the habit of using English, and have the courage to express themselves. Moreover, cooperative learning among peers and the cultivation of a positive atmosphere of all-English mutual academic exchanges are encouraged.

2. Organizers

- NYCU College of Biomedical Science and Engineering (BMSE)
- EMI Teaching and Learning Center (EMI Center)
- Language Learning and Writing Center (LLWC)
- NYCU College of Computer Science (CCS)

3. Eligibility

- Only students from NYCU may sign up.

4. Contest introduction and rules

- This competition is conducted in teams, each team has at least two and at most three people, and each team must have a team leader as the main contact person. Contestants can name the teams by themselves (but do not use indecent words or any related terms that allude to meaning).
- Contestants will be divided into two groups: the undergraduate group and the graduate group. All the team members in the undergraduate group should be undergraduate students, while all the team members in the graduate group should be graduate students.
- Preliminary round
Please fill in the registration Google Form and attach the certificate of enrollment from the NYCU website. Contestants should record a 5-8 minute English video.

➤ Finals

The finalists will be announced before November 21st, 2022. The organizer will contact the leader of each team via email. The team leader must reply by 12:00 pm (noon) on November 23rd, 2022. If any teams withdraw, the organizer will invite contestants on the waitlist to participate in the final round. The order of presentation will be determined by drawing lots on the day of the event.

➤ Props and presentation slides

- ✓ The usage of props is not included in the evaluation, and each team can decide whether to use them. However, if contestants need to use props, they should mainly use those that can be carried on their bodies, and large props are not allowed. The organizer does not provide storage space.
- ✓ The PPT slides are not a must and each team can decide whether to use them. If a team using the PPT slides is selected for the finals, the team should send the PPT files to the organizer before the finals. At that time, the team leader shall pay attention to the relevant announcement via email.

5. Registration Method and Submission Requirements

- Please click on the registration link (<https://docs.google.com/forms/d/e/1FAIpQLSd-wVFISmmQTHWkRRC4UV9SHsYVIQ5KqP02OIWjjOrVdQMBUg/viewform?usp=sharing>) to fill in the registration information; attach the certificate of enrollment from the NYCU website. Contestants should record a 5-8 minute English video. At the beginning of the video, introduce themselves, their department, and their Talk Show topic in English. The time of the introduction will not be counted for the 5-8 minute time limit. The video must contain all the contestants. The file name of the videos should be: NYCU Talk Show_name of the team_member 1_member 2_member 3 (e.g., NYCU Talk Show_Poor English_Jimmy Kimmel_Kelly Ripa_Mo Gilligan).

➤ Registration steps:

Contestants should upload the video to Youtube and unlist it (so that the video is not searchable but anyone with the link can view it). They should click the registration form

(<https://docs.google.com/forms/d/e/1FAIpQLSd-wVFISmmQTHWkRRC4UV9SHsYVIQ5KqP02OIWjjOrVdQMBUg/viewform?usp=sharing>), and the team leader please fill in the information for the whole team. The BMSE EMI Promotion Office will then send the team a confirmation email. If contestants do not receive a confirmation email, they shall contact BMSE EMI Promotion Office (email: bmse.emi@gmail.com).

6. Topics

- This competition is conducted in teams. Contestants will be divided into two groups: the undergraduate group and the graduate group.
 - ✓ All the team members in the undergraduate group should be undergraduate students.
 - ✓ All the team members in the graduate group should be graduate students.
- Contestants can decide the topic by themselves and there are three possible themes provided. Contestants can choose one among the three as the scope to share.
 - ✓ Sharing the experience studying in the department or institute at NYCU
 - ✓ Sharing research results from the field of study
 - ✓ Sharing the EMI course-taking experiences

7. Contest schedule

- NYCU Talk Show is mainly structured into two stages: the preliminary round and the final round. In the preliminary round, each team must record and submit a five to eight-minute video.
- The schedule is as follows,

Date	Activities
2022/10/04 (Tuesday)	Contest announcement Open for registration
2023/01/13 (Friday)	Registration deadline Preliminary round video upload deadline
2023/02/07 (Tuesday)	Announcement of finalists
2023/03/14 (Tuesday)	Finals

- NYCU Talk Show Final
 - ✓ Time: 2023/02/23(Thu) 18:00 pm - 21:00 pm
 - ✓ Venue: Performance Hall, Activity Center, Yangming Campus, Yang Ming Chiao Tung University (Time and venue are tentative. Please refer to the final announcement , and the organizer reserves the right to modify the event.)

8. Selection Method & Evaluation Criteria

- The organizer will invite professionals on and off campus to evaluate the two stages of the contest. In the preliminary round, the submitted videos will be reviewed by professional reviewers. After review and discussion, eight teams from each group (undergraduate and graduate) will advance to the finals. The finalists must deliver their five to eight-minute presentation in person with the original team members. The final contest result will be determined by the on-site judges. The judges will select the top three teams as well as two honorable mentions in each group, and the audience will vote for the most popular award team. Each award may not be given depending on the overall results of participation, and the organizer reserves the right to modify the event.

- Evaluation rubric

Item	Percentage
Content (topic, structure, and organization)	40%
Creativity and Interestingness	30%
Presentation skills (intelligibility, characterization & stage charm, energy, team chemistry & overall performance)	30%

9. Prizes

- The judges will select the top three teams as well as two honorable mentions in each group, and the audience will vote for the most popular award team.
- The prizes are as follows:
